Description: Research methods included a records search of County maps, reports and documents and a field survey. The record search determined that there were no previous surveys and no cultural resources identified within the project area itself. However, the record search did show that several archaeology surveys were conducted for County projects within a one-mile radius of the Caney property; in addition numerous prehistoric sites were identified in the vicinity. The property consists almost entirely of an active orange grove and is currently vacant of structures, although a cement foundation of a small building remains on the south central boundary of the site. Most of the parcel had a heavy ground cover of non-native grasses resulting in poor ground visibility. In most areas, although enough bare surface as well as rodent activity allowed a sufficient sampling of subsurface deposits to indicate the absence of midden soils. Abundant granitic bedrock outcrops were scattered throughout the parcel, most heavily weathered. These were carefully inspected for indications of milling features and none were found. The parcel was heavily disturbed from agricultural activities. No cultural resources, prehistoric or historic, were identified during this survey. Given the negative results, no further work is required. This project proposes to subdivide a 6.01-acre parcel into two residential lots.
